SOURCE

1. It is reported that the uncharted air field at Libertador, Province of Monte Cristi, which is being constructed by the Grenada Company for the Dominican Army has east-west, north-south runways, the former being approximately 5,000 feet long, and the latter 4,000 feet long.* The width of the runways is one hundred feet each. No borings were taken by the engineers, but from the surrounding country, it is reasonable to expect that the base is caliche rock. No grading has been done, and none is contemplated. A DC-4 could land and take off without any trouble. The field is located about two and one half kilometers southwest of the Fortaleza, which guards the bridge crossing the Massacre River, and is about 80 kilometers from the town of Monte Cristi. At one end of the field there is a wind-sock, and a small outpost of the Dominican Army. The field is not mentioned outside of Army circles.
